Our Services

Initial Consultation

We know that in order to deliver a tailored solution it must start at the most important point, with the customer. Through an initial consultation, the team will gain knowledge and understanding of the requirements of both the staff and the business itself, developing garments that reflect and adhere to the day-to-day demands of the customer.

Design/ Research

By encouraging clients to involve all decision makers and wearer groups in the design process from the outset, we can be sure to deliver a corporate image of which staff and management will be proud. Using design boards, fabric swatches and sample garments the team of commercial designers will create a unique look for the business encapsulating both the brand and, most importantly, the people.

Wearer Trial

Before an order is committed to bulk production, we recommend a trial wear period. Selected staff can test the garments for style, comfort, fit, durability and 'washability'. Any modifications can then be made before the final samples are signed off and full production begins.

Continued Service

Once goods are delivered, our dedicated account manager will remain in contact to respond to any queries, questions or feedback that you may have, thus helping to maintain a consistent level of service throughout the contract period.

services

Branding

Embroidery

We carry out various embroidery patterns for branding of any ordered garment or accessory. Company name, logo or motif, as well as individual staff names can be embroidered in almost any size, at any place. Helping to reinforce corporate identity and awareness, embroidery is a cost-effective yet proven option.

Screen Printing

This is a common method used for achieving a striking, sharp edged logo and/or design on casual garments, be it a polo shirt or a cotton shirt. All that is needed is high-resolution coloured artwork (to size). Our team is on hand to offer advice or quotation for this service.

Heat Seal

Unlike embroidery, heat sealing allows for finer detailing to be achieved, be it on workwear, outerwear, shirts or even blouses. In addition, we can provide encapsulated, reflective transfers for use on high visibility clothing.

Tabbing

This is a highly recommended method of branding. Tabbing is a stylish yet cost-effective way to establish a corporate identity. The company logo or motif is incorporated into a small woven label that can be positioned on the garment as discreetly or as prominently as required.

Your Own Logo

Working with customers every step of the way, TUC will establish and advise the best method and solution for achieving the right corporate uniform and branding. All that is required from the customer is a copy of the logo artwork in the size and colours required.
